Introduction

The Advanced Choice of Employment (ACE) scheme is a collaborative scheme to employ first year House Officers on behalf of all the district employers in New Zealand.

The ACE scheme was introduced in 2003 to simplify the application process for first year House Officer Positions and to streamline the appointment process for the district employers.

The ACE scheme simplifies the recruitment process for first year House Officers by using a centralised match process and simultaneously considers the applicants workplace preference as well as the district employers' preference of applicants. The ACE scheme is beneficial for applicants as they are placed only in accordance with their expressed preferences.

Overview

Advanced Choice of Employment (ACE) is for New Zealand and Australian Medical Graduate applying for a first year House Officer position in New Zealand.

ACE is a single application tool that allows graduate doctors throughout the country to put in one application which is then distributed to up to 20 district employers throughout the country according to which employers they most prefer to work.

Please note that this is not the only way to find a House Officer position. You are still able to apply for positions directly to employers and other employers via their career webpages or the Kiwi Health Jobs website and other job search sites.

ACE Principles

1. All district employers have agreed to implement the ACE scheme and to work within the ACE process. Employers will not pre-match applicants to first year House Officer Positions.
2. All applicants seeking first year House Officer Positions to start at the beginning of the training year must apply through the ACE scheme. District employers should refer all potential applicants to ACE.
3. Preference rankings from participating applicants and the employers are private and confidential. As per the Business Rules the applicants are not required to disclose their preferences to the employers so employers are advised not to ask the applicants to disclose their preferences for their ranking process.
4. Neither party in the recruitment process should make independent contracts.
5. Having been matched to a district employer, there is an expectation that the applicants will accept a position with that employer. Similarly, the employer may not appoint House Officers matched to some other districts without the express consent from that district employer and ACE.

Applicants and district employers are asked to report to ACE should there be any instances of breaches of the above principles.

Eligibility for ACE

Please note that the following applicants are not eligible to apply via ACE:

- NZRex applicants
- International medical graduates who are not NZ/Australian Citizens/Permanent Residents

To be eligible to apply to ACE RMO for a House Officer position you must meet all the following basic criteria below.

The district employers will then be asked to rank the applicants who have ranked them in the following order until applicants have been ranked:

Category 1: Graduates from New Zealand medical schools and are citizens or permanent residents of New Zealand or Australia.

Category 2: Graduates from Australian medical schools and are citizens or permanent residents of New Zealand or Australia.

Category 3: Graduates from New Zealand medical schools and are not permanent residents of New Zealand or Australia.

Applicants will be excluded from the match if they:

- Fail to submit a complete application by 12noon (NZT) Friday, 7 July 2023 (District employers will also not be able to see these applicants' applications as part of their ranking process).
- Do not meet the eligibility criteria as set out above.
- Do not meet the eligibility criteria to be considered as a re-applicant.

Applicants should be able to commence employment at the start of the relevant training year. The details of applicants who are not able to start on time will be sent to the district employers and clearly marked as late start applicants. Employers will then have the option to rank these applicants.

NOTE: Residency Visas

A permanent resident visa must not be confused with a resident visa. Category 1 and 2 applicants must have a permanent resident visa which entitles them to stay in New Zealand indefinitely and not resident visa with travel conditions.

Frequently Asked Questions

What are the ACE RMO Eligibility Criteria?

Please note that the following applicants are not eligible to apply via ACE:

- NZRex applicants
- International medical graduates who are not NZ/Australian Citizens/Permanent Residents

To be eligible to apply to ACE RMO for a House Officer position you must meet all the following basic criteria below.

The District Health Boards will then be asked to rank the applicants who have ranked them in the following order until applicants have been ranked:

Category 1: Graduates from New Zealand medical schools and are citizens or permanent residents of New Zealand or Australia.

Category 2: Graduates from Australian medical schools and are citizens or permanent residents of New Zealand or Australia.

Category 3: Graduates from New Zealand medical schools and are not permanent residents of New Zealand or Australia.

Applicants will be excluded from the match if they:

- Fail to submit a complete application by 12noon (NZT) Friday, 7 July 2023 (District employers will also not be able to see these applicants' applications as part of their ranking process).
- Do not meet the eligibility criteria as set out above.
- Do not meet the eligibility criteria to be considered as a re-applicant.

Applicants should be able to commence employment at the start of the relevant training year. The details of applicants who are not able to start on time will be sent to the employers and clearly marked as late start applicants. Employers will then have the option to rank these applicants.

NOTE: Residency Visas

A permanent resident visa must not be confused with a resident visa. Category 1 and 2 applicants must have a permanent resident visa which entitles them to stay in New Zealand indefinitely and not resident visa with travel conditions.

Am I eligible to re-apply?

Some applicants may be eligible to re-apply provided they meet the following criteria:

- They are an NZ Medical School graduate and are an NZ or Australian Citizen/Permanent Resident (Category 1).
- They have not held a first year House Office position previously.
- They have not previously been matched through the ACE process.
- They are re applying in the intake immediately following their first application/ final medical year.

Note: An applicant who has decided not to apply through the ACE scheme during their final Year of Medical School will only be eligible to apply for the intake immediately following the completion of their final exam.

What if I don't or can't apply via ACE during my TI year?

An applicant who decides not to apply through the ACE scheme during their final year at Medical School (to complete research, Honours, or any other personal reasons) will only be eligible to apply for the intake immediately following the completion of their final exams.

Those applicants who choose to defer their first application for a year will not be eligible to apply a second time if unsuccessful in their first application attempt as they will no longer meet the above eligibility criteria that stipulates applicants can only apply in the intake immediately at the end of their final year of medical school or the intake immediately following. By deferring, these applicants therefore forgo one of their two possible application attempts.

How do I apply via ACE for PGY1 position?

You can register with ACE and create a profile at any time via the ACE RMO Website. Once applications open, you will then be able to start your ACE application. You can access this application and amend any part of it until applications close. Your application status MUST be complete at the close-off date to be considered for the next stage. Note that there is no 'submit' button for the ACE process; you can confirm your application status by reviewing your checklist to the left hand-side of your application.

What are the main steps to complete an ACE application?

- ✓ Confirm you meet the ACE eligibility criteria
- ✓ Answer all questions in the application form
- ✓ Upload your up-to-date CV
- ✓ Attach cover letters for the employers you wish to work for (optional)
- ✓ Upload a copy of your certified academic transcript
- ✓ Upload any clinical results/dean's commendations (optional)
- ✓ Attach certified copies of your citizenship or residency documents
- ✓ References completed by an SMO or Consultant who is vocationally registered in the specialty they are working
- ✓ Preference, in order, the employers you wish to work for Full details on what is required as part of your ACE application can be found in the Application Process section.

Who can complete the ACE RMO referee report forms?

Referee report forms can only be submitted online via your ACE application. ACE will not accept paper references. ACE references must be completed by an SMO or Consultant who is vocationally registered in the specialty they are working, or a General Practitioner (GP's who are not vocationally registered can be used as referees for the ACE application).

In the case that a supervising SMO or Consultant is vocationally registered overseas, they must be registered in a comparable health country (as outlined by MCNZ) to be eligible to supply a reference for you.

ACE only accepts references obtained from your TI year/final year placements where the referee has observed your skills in a clinical setting.

In exceptional circumstances, where a trainee intern (TI) or final year medical student is going on an overseas elective during the first half of their TI year ACE will allow the graduate to supply ONE reference which is an exception to the above requirements.

In these cases, ACE will accept:

- One of these 3 references from the second half of a graduates fifth year.

OR

- One reference from a graduates elective provided it is from a hospital that is included in the MCNZ list of comparable health system countries; OR the clinical supervisor providing a reference for an elective in a non-comparable health country possesses a current practising certificate and has vocational scope of practice with either the New Zealand Medical Council, Australian Medical Council, General Medical Council (GMC) or Irish Medical Councils.

Applicants going on an overseas elective must supply 2 further references from supervising clinicians in their final/TI year.

How do I nominate referees in my ACE application?

You will need to nominate 3 referees in your ACE application. It is important that you discuss with them and obtain their agreement to act as your referee. After you log in to your account, select the 'Your References' tab, which is towards the top left corner of the page. To nominate your referees, you need to enter their full name, designation, phone number and e-mail address under 'Create Reference Request'. Once this has been completed, an automatic e-mail is sent to your referee with instructions on how to log-in to the online reference form and complete your reference. Consequently, your referee must be available online. Once a reference has been completed and received, it cannot be changed.

If it is not possible for your referee to submit an online reference, please contact ACE immediately.

Note: Applicants can choose references from different settings e.g., a mix of GP, hospital-based (different clinical attachments), laboratory-based, community setting.

What information should I include in my Resume?

Applicants are required to supply an up-to-date Resume (CV) as part of their ACE application. A Resume Template is available for download from the ACE Resources section of the ACE RMO website. Applicants are also encouraged to develop their own format and style of document. Resumes must be saved as a PDF document to be uploaded to your ACE RMO application. ACE will only accept PDF copies of all your documents because it guarantees that each employer can open and view your documents in your format without corruption.

General Resume Advice

- Ensure that your resumes and cover letters are clear, succinct, and properly structured.
- Maximum 3-4 pages for resumes.
- Passport sized photos are ok (professional).
- Research your employers! Go to their career webpages and gain an insight into their culture, what RN positions they currently have on offer and make it clear why you want to work for each employer that you're applying to.
- Ensure that your resumes and cover letters are free of spelling errors and grammar mistakes. Have a friend or a colleague proofread your documents!

What information should I include in my Cover Letter?

Cover Letters are one of the most vital components of your ACE RMO application and can be critical in determining whether you are invited for an interview.

As part of your ACE RMO application, you are encouraged to do some research on the employers that you have chosen to apply to. Information about your employers can be found by researching their career websites and by asking key people in the organisation questions about their organisation. From this information you will come to understand that each employer has specific areas of practice that may be of interest to you. Some of these areas will be like other employers, some will be different and specific to that employer and the region that they cover; therefore, each cover letter should be very specific for the employer that you are interested in applying to.

A Cover Letter Template is available for download in the ACE Resources section of the ACE RMO website and in the documents section of your ACE application. The templates are available in PC and MAC format and come pre-formatted with helpful tips and advice for each section of the document.

When submitting your cover letters, you have two options. You can either submit one cover letter which all employers you rank will be able to see, or, you can write separate cover letters for each of the employers that you have ranked.

Writing separate cover letters is the best option! It allows you to customise your cover letter specifically to an employer and remember that employers don't know where you've ranked them, so by writing separate cover letters you can make it sound as though each employer you selected is your most preferred option!

When addressing your cover Letters, remember to triple check who you've addressed them to. Remember to be sure you've put the correct employer's name(s) at the top of the letter. AND...make sure you've attached the right cover letter into the right employer upload slot in your ACE application!

Who can verify my documents?

Your residency documents such as your passport, drivers licence, birth certificate, residency or citizenship certificates must be certified prior to uploading them to your application. These documents can be certified by a Justice of the Peace, Police Officer, Court Registrar or Lawyer. Most Tertiary Providers have JP's who visit campuses weekly. These certified copies must then be scanned and uploaded to your application in PDF format. If you have had a statutory name change by deed poll, please provide the proof by scanning this document together with your New Zealand Driver's License or Student Identification Card.

Your official transcript sent to you by your Tertiary Education Provider needs to either be certified (as above) or verified by the faculty at your Tertiary Education Provider.

What Identification documents are required to be submitted?

New Zealand Citizens: The photo page of New Zealand Passport plus New Zealand Tertiary Student Identification Card or New Zealand Driver's License. For New Zealand Citizens in lieu of a New Zealand Passport or New Zealand Driver's License, ACE will accept a New Zealand Citizenship Certificate or New Zealand Full Birth Certificate that is issued on or after 1 January 1998 and that carries a unique identification number.

Australian Citizens: The photo page of Australian Passport plus New Zealand Tertiary Student Identification Card or New Zealand Driver's License.

Permanent Resident Visa or Returning Resident Visa Holders: The photo page of an Overseas Passport plus the relevant Visa Document plus New Zealand Tertiary Student Identification Card or New Zealand Driver's License.

Resident Visa Holders: The photo page of an Overseas Passport plus the relevant Visa Document plus New Zealand Tertiary Student Identification Card or New Zealand Driver's License.

My passport is expired

ACE will still accept an expired passport as it still provides proof of citizenship. Usually this would not have expired more than 5 years ago. If your passport has expired longer than 5 years prior, you will need to supply ACE with a Full New Zealand Birth Certificate issued on or after 1 January 1998.

What is a Permanent Resident Visa?

Applicants to ACE RMO must be Permanent Resident Visa holders and must have a permanent resident visa which entitles them to stay in New Zealand indefinitely and not a resident visa with travel conditions at the time of the application.

If you hold a Resident Visa (which is not a permanent resident visa) then please choose New Zealand Resident Visa under 'What is your residency/citizenship status?' in your application.

Please contact Immigration New Zealand if you are unsure or have questions about what type of visa you hold. Click on the link below to read about difference between permanent resident visa and resident visa: <http://kb.immigration.govt.nz/item/3704>.

How do I convert documents to PDF format?

All the 20 district employers who participate in the ACE process requires that each of your personal and identification documents be uploaded in PDF format. The reason for this is simply due to compatibility and that PDF formatted documents can be opened safely by all our employers.

Most Office Programs let you save documents as PDF. Click 'File' at the top left corner of the word document, then click 'Save as PDF' and then click 'Save'.

In some programs you may need to click 'print' and when given the option to 'choose a printer' you will need to select 'print to PDF' and 'create/save' your PDF that way.

There are file size limits, if you get an error message saying that your PDF file size exceeds the limit, this means that you must compress that document. You may try the following:

- Convert your documents
- Optimize your Scanner Settings
- Optimize the PDF file using Adobe Acrobat

- Reduce the size of the PDF file using Adobe Acrobat
- Use an online PDF compression service

If you take a photo of your verified identification document(s), the best way to convert this to PDF is to 'copy and paste' the photo into a word document and then convert that into PDF using some of the steps outlined above.

You can also find loads of free programs on the internet which let you convert your documents to PDF for free; there are many options available on the internet for you to explore. If in doubt, use the computer suite at your university to save your files to PDF.

Alternatively, as a last resort, you can scan your identification documents to your email which would normally be exported in PDF format.

It is recommended that each of your identification documents are uploaded independently to your ACE application and not as one single file. The reason for this is that each district employers will have their own filing conventions, so please follow this instruction. We also recommend that you save your files locally or to the cloud for your own reference in case ACE or your employers ask you to access these promptly for any reason.

Uploading documents to your application

Select 'Choose File' under each document field to browse and select the relevant file for upload.

- Ensure each file for upload has a (.pdf) extension.
- Ensure each file for upload is 4MB or smaller in size.
- Name all files accurately to avoid uploading the wrong file in the wrong section.

Note: Once files have successfully uploaded to your application, the name of the file will change to reflect the space they have been uploaded into – E.g., Primary ID, Cover Letter (generic cover letter), or Hospital Name (District employer specific cover letter). To check that the document you have uploaded is correct, click on the link for the uploaded document.

Paired Applicants

ACE allows for couples who wish to work together at the same district employer and who are both applying via ACE in the same intake, to submit their applications as a pair. However, there are potential consequences you should consider before deciding to apply as a pair as these may impact your match outcome!

1. The ACE algorithm will consider the pair based on the lowest eligibility category of the two applicants.
2. The ACE algorithm will consider the pair based on the lowest employer ranking of the two applicants.
3. A match can only be facilitated where there are 2 PGY1 positions still available at the time the algorithm considers the pair.

To apply as a pair, both applicants must:

Detail your wishes to apply as paired applicants on the online ACE application form in the Personal Details section. To do this you will need the applicant number of the other applicant you wish to pair with. This will ensure that the employers are aware that you are applying as a pair.

Detail in your cover letter(s) your wishes to apply as a paired applicant so employers can identify your reasons for this.

Make sure your employer preferences are identical (i.e., Preference the same number of employers and in the same order) – if your preferences are different ACE will not be able to pair your application in the system and you will not be put through the ACE Match process as a pair.

Please note that once applications close, paired applications cannot be unpaired.

What if I am not able to commence at the start of the training year?

It is preferred that you are available to commence employment at the start of the relevant training year. However, if this is not possible you will need to indicate this and the reason in your ACE application and Cover Letter. Your details will be sent to the employers you preference and your application will be marked as a late start. Employers will then have the option to rank your application or not. If an employer is unable to accommodate a late start, they are not obligated to rank you.

Should an applicant be made aware after the ACE match that they are unable to commence on time it is vital they speak with the employer they were matched with as soon as possible.

What information do employers receive from ACE during the ranking and selection process?

The district employers receive the complete application including all the documents submitted and all information entered in the online application. Everything included in your application under each section is accessible to the employers for the ranking process.

ACE does not hold back any documents, or any information included in the online application.

ACE will not provide your employer ranking information to other employers, and you are not obligated in any way to provide this information to them if you are asked.

What are the selection criteria that employers use to rank the applicants?

ACE does not determine the recruitment and selection criteria for each of the 20 district employers. ACE encourages applicants to get in touch with employers directly to find out about what their selection criteria(s) are as these vary from region to region.

Employers are sent by ACE the information and documents provided from all applicants who have preferred them as an employer, as well as an individual ACE assessment score which is based on a nationally agreed scoring scale which considers academic grades, distinctions, awards, additional qualifications, publications, presentations, and the information contained in an applicant's referee reports.

However, not all employers take all this information into consideration of their selection of first year House Officers, each employer will have and will use their own locally applied selection criteria.

For further information on individual selection criteria, please begin by referring to the Employer's Information sheets in the Employer Information section of the ACE RMO website.

Will I be ranked by all employers that I preferred in my ACE application?

The employer will review and assess all the applications that they receive, however they might only rank applicants who they think are suitable to work at their hospital. This means that even if you have preferred a district employer, they might not rank you. This is a very important information to remember when you get you match results.

What if an employer asks me to disclose my employer preferences during the interview or district employer's ranking process?

As per the ACE RMO business rules agreed to by all district employers, applicant employer preferences are confidential, and employers have been advised not to seek this information. ACE does not provide this information to employers, and you are not required to disclose your preferences to employers at any stage of the ACE RMO Intake.

If a district employer does ask you to disclose your employer preference ranking, ACE recommends that you decline to answer the question, as you are not obliged to and have been advised not to provide this information. In addition to this, please also contact the ACE Centre and inform them of the breach.

What happens if I am not matched to my preferred employers?

You can only be matched to one of the employers you have nominated and preferred in your application. As such, there is an expectation that you will accept the offer of employment at the hospital you are matched to. If you wish to decline a position you have been offered, note that you will not be given another opportunity to be matched to any other employer in that intake or the following or to be placed into the ACE talent pool. To minimise the chances of this happening, we recommend you only preference employers you are willing to accept a position with. However, because you are required to rank a minimum of 6 employers, we recommend you clearly state in your cover letter if you are in a situation whereby you are unable to move to a different employer region. Employers can then try to take this into consideration when assessing your application. Please note this is not guaranteed and may reduce your chances to obtain a position.

What are the next steps when you have been matched to an employer?

If you have been successfully matched to an employer through the ACE scheme, you will first be informed via e-mail from ACE. The employer you were matched to may then contact you to complete any safety checks and on then you will be sent a formal offer directly by the same employer. You will have seven days to accept or decline the offer. From then on, matched employers will liaise with you directly to organise further pre-employment documents.

Children's Act 2014 and Exception to Clean Slate Act

All RMOs (House Officers and Registrars) are deemed to be 'Core' Children's workers.

The Children's Act 2014 (formerly the Vulnerable Children's Act) sets clear expectations for consistent safety checking across the children's workforce so that people who work with children will keep them safe. The district employers nationally are committed to having all their children's workforce safety checked, and if applying for a position with district employers via ACE you can expect that safety checking will be completed prior to employment.

From a Police Vetting perspective, if an applicant's role predominantly involves the care and protection of a child, or youth (aged 16 or under) then they must be vetted under Exception to Clean Slate vetting criteria.

The Children's Act 2014 has amended the Criminal Records (Clean Slate) Act 2004 to facilitate the operation of the Workforce Restriction. Where a person has a conviction for a specified offence and is applying for (or continuing in) a role as a core children's worker, any convictions for offences specified in Schedule 2 of the Children's Act will be disclosed in the vetting result.

All applicants must declare in their ACE application whether they have been convicted including discharged without conviction because of criminal charges in New Zealand or any other country. Under NZ law, employers can conduct police vetting checks on all successful applicants who accept a position. Prior to employment the employer will ask the applicant to sign a 'consent to disclosure' form allowing the police to release all information re: that individual. For more information about the Criminal Records (Clean Slate) Act 2004, click here.

What is the talent pool for unmatched applicants?

All unmatched applicants are placed in the Talent Pool automatically. The Talent Pool is a list of all unmatched applicants maintained by ACE which is released to the district employers at the end of each Intake. The employers use the Talent Pool to fill any subsequent PGY1 positions that may become available during the year. There is no category priority applied to the applicants in the talent pool and the employer can review and select any applicant that they feel is suitable for employment at their hospital.

Following the acceptances and declines process (check under important dates), if you are prepared to accept jobs with other district employers that you had not initially ranked in your application you can write to the recruitment contacts at those districts and let them know that you are on the talent pool and are prepared to work for them should a vacancy arise. The contact information for ACE employers can be found in the Employers Information section of the ACE RMO website. We also recommend that you check the district employer's career websites and Kiwi Health Job website regularly for any additional vacancies.

ACE will accept any new/updated documents including references from the applicants who are in the Talent Pool and will add it to their application on the ACE system. All new documents will be available to the employers via the Talent Pool.

What is the ACE Applicant Guide?

The ACE RMO Applicant guide is a very useful tool which gives an in-depth overview of the entire ACE process and step by step instructions for what you need to do to complete your ACE RMO application. Most of the times you'll find that the answers to the question you may have been available in the ACE RMO Applicant Guide.
